

QNB Alahli Shortens business cycles and improve business processes by using RightFax Software

Reduce administrative effort, costs and support corporate growth

RightFax provides central installation, intuitive administration, integration capability, and scalability

Business need: Business documents which are used to complete business transactions and are critical to running the business; are often generated from sophisticated back-office systems. Manually processing these documents using mail or fax machines is labor, paper, and equipment-intensive. It is also costly and may cause unnecessary and unacceptable time delays. These documents are generally time-sensitive and often confidential. There are also laws and regulations restricting their usage and disclosure, and there may be specific handling requirements at play. Untimely or unsecured delivery can result in financial loss, legal action, or missed opportunities for the financial services institution or the recipient.

Solution: Prosoft Information Systems offered a solution, which met all customer requirements by integrating with business applications, with central installation, intuitive administration, integration capability, and highest available scalability.

“One of the main reasons for choosing RightFax is its competitive advantage through increased efficiency. As the more timely information we provide to our clients, the more likely they are to trade with us.”
